

Author's Name And Surname: Hanife YAVUZ

Title: Chronological evolution and Problems of Plates and Bowls during Hellenistic Period

ABSTRACT

The subject of this study is consists of the plates and bowls of Hellenistic period. We aimed that to evaluate the adornment and form evolution of plates and bowls by finding out similarities and differences according to their excavations and origins, during Hellenistic period by investigating in Continent of Greece and Anatolia.

Consequently, it is possible to apprise that Hellenistic period dishes and bowls originate form different production centers at different times. Herewith importing of Attica ceramic in Continent of Greece, their imitations were made, local bowls that originated from prototypes of Attica ceramic were improved. Moreover, quality loss, obvious form and adornment deformations were observed by over local production these ceramics.

Key words: Continent of Greece, Anatolia, Hellenistic, Plate, Bowl