

ÖZLEM KARABACAK

THE SECOND WORLD WAR PERIOD APPLIED EDUCATIONAL AND CULTURAL POLITICS IN TURKEY IN THE REFLECTION OF THE PROVINCIAL: AYDIN PROVINCE SAMPLE

ABSTRACT

Occurred between the years 1939-1945 the Second World War, Turkey, but the war did not actually enter the economic, social, cultural and political conditions, with all the weight was felt. Despite being kept in the forefront of national defense culture and education program of republican government in the economic, social and even political issues were included in equal importance. Master's thesis prepared as Developments in the field of study, education, comparing the before and after the war, reflecting the government's education policies and socio-economic problems in the context of the period are described.

The Second World War in the years of students in educational institutions and given the contemporary importance of overhaul, as well as the possibility of war against any civilian population, has been trying to raise awareness. Ministry of National Education as well as activities for public education in studies of the role of public houses and public rooms have been mentioned. Legal education and culture policies and the war economy has created difficulties for citizens and the impact on school population became primarily in general have been addressed.

People living in the provinces of the trace left on the war, the war set off by an example of Aydin province's economy and education policies in the composition is intended to be more clearly reveal the eyes. The Second World War years in the province of Aydin in education, social and cultural developments in the field experience to determine which was the main goal of the study.

This study was the evaluation of those facts mentioned press screening, library work (documentary screening) method for the period were primarily first-hand access to resources, issues and objectives in accordance with the relevant literature review was conducted.

Key Words:

Second World War, education, passive protection, physical training, the People's Houses, education in Aydın, village institutions.
